DESCRIBE THE PRESENT AND ORIGINAL (IF KNOWN) PHYSICAL APPEARANCE

This stylish two-story "foursquare" house presents one hip-roofed block preceding a larger, but similar block. The forward section of this frame building measures two bays square. A porch which includes brackets and round columns covers the three open sides - north, west, and south.

A northern door appears in the west facade. One over one windows framed in plain flat boards occupy the other bays. A shed-roofed dormer lights the attic.

The rear section presents an additional bay to either side of the forward block.

Paired brackets support each section of eaves at its center and ends. A brick stove-flue chimney rises from the south-center of the roof. Narrow siding sheathes the walls.

STATEMENT OF SIGNIFICANCE

This is an especially well-detailed example of the "foursquare" style in Calvert County. Many similar, but simpler, houses were built by the Lyons and Gibson builders in the 1920's.
